

NEW CAMINO

A new vision for Latino/Hispanic Ministries

From The Episcopal Church's Office of Latino/Hispanic Ministries

New Camino is a dynamic two-day seminar specifically designed for dioceses and congregations wanting to explore new ways to shore up existing Spanish-speaking ministry, as well as learn how to engage with the English-dominant, later-generation Latinos.

A key focus of New Camino is to challenge and debunk the stereotypes and preconceived notions about today's Latino communities, particularly regarding ministry and worship.

Embrace the opportunity to be part of this transformative experience. Register now for New Camino and learn new ways to be more culturally aware and responsive to a Latino ministry that is inclusive of all generations of Latinos.

New Camino offers a unique opportunity to learn more about the evolving reality of Latino ministry which has been dramatically impacted by the acculturation and linguistic changes in the Latino communities over the past 25 years.

What would it take for you to minister to the two-thirds of the Latino population who are U.S.-born, fully bilingual and English-dominant?

Learn how to analyze your church's surrounding zip codes to determine the various generations of Latinos in your area.

What are some unique ways to engage with your Latino community and build more inclusive relationships?
